

A BLACK HISTORY MOMENT TO REMEMBER

It was a night to remember!

On February 24, 2023, the Boys, Girls, Adults Community Development Center had its annual program celebrating Black History Month, a chance to highlight and celebrate the youth of the community. Youngsters from the Delta Visual and Performing Arts showed off their creativity in all the performing arts.

Emoni Flowers, age two, and Emeri Flowers, age four, rode in on their hoverboards and called the program to order. They made a flashy entrance, catching everyone's attention as the show began.

Ricky Butler read a poem titled "Black History Month" by Nikki Giovanni.

Shakaylin Millbrooks read a poem titled "Hey Black Child" by Maya Angelou.

Keyshawn Burrell, Jeremiah Burrell, Robert Clark, and Gabriel Cobbs created a dance to "The World's Greatest" by R. Kelly to demonstrate that this generation is still strong and hopeful about its future.

E'Zuri Flowers showed off her fantastic gymnastic skills in honor to the first black gymnast, Dominique Dawes.

The Grand Finale was the praise dance created by Aaliyah Bennett, E'Zuri Flowers, Mariah Murray, and Kiyonna Jones to the song "Stand Up" by Cynthia Erivo. The song was on the soundtrack of the movie "Harriet." They chose this song because it showed strength and unity.

The DVPA participants did an awesome and memorable job on this special night.
